DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 4 and 10 provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 10 of copending Application No. 10/713,926 (US'926). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because US'926 claims the combination of an resinate of an opiate ( a known controlled substance) in an oral dosage form (claim 1), which may additionally have an aversive agent added (claim 10).

Art Unit: 1615

As such, those of ordinary skill would have found it well within their skill to claim the instant pharmaceutical which combines a resinate of a drug and an aversive agent with a reasonable expectation of similar aversive results if the dosage form is tampered with intent to abuse the drug. The instant claims would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art given the claims of US'926.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Art Unit: 1615

Claim 9 is unclear in its use of the term "readily ingestible" when referring to the form of the pharmaceutical. How does this differ from a form that is merely "ingestible"? Clarification is requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 4-7 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sackler (US Patent No. 7,332,182).

Sackler discloses different embodiments of oral dosage forms containing an opioid analgesic as well as an irritant (aversive agent). Capsaicin and similar compounds are disclosed at col. 6, lines 59-67; col. 1-20. The compositions are formulated so that if taken correctly (such as orally) they produce the desired effect, but fail to produce their therapeutic effect if taken parenterally (See col. 10, lines 48-52). Matrix formulations include various ion exchange resins based on acryl and methacrylic polymers (see col. 26, lines 1-64). The aversive agent may or may not be in

"sequestered" form (see claims). That is, it is they may be loaded onto to the matrix of the polymer or not. Therefore, it would have been well within the skill of the ordinary practitioner to claim the combination of an opioid, aversive agent such as capsaicin, and an ion exchange resin and for the same art recognized purpose of discouraging tampering and abuse of the pharmaceutical given the teachings of Sackler. As such, the instant invention would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill at the time of invention given the teachings of Sackler.

Claim 8 is objected to as dependent upon a rejected base claim.
